I have the honour to forward herewith the Lebanese Government's position paper on the implementation of Security Council resolution 1701 (2006) (see annex). Also forwarded herewith are the lists of Israeli air, maritime and land violations of the blue line as compiled by the Lebanese armed forces and covering the period between 11 February and 29 May 2008 (see enclosure).

I kindly request that the present letter and its annex be circulated as a document of the sixty-second session of the General Assembly under agenda item 17 and as a document of the Security Council.

Lebanese Government position paper on the implementation of Security Council resolution 1701 (2006)

17 June 2008

On the eve of the second anniversary of the adoption of Security Council resolution 1701 (2006), and in anticipation of the periodic review of the Secretary-General's report on the implementation of the resolution, the Lebanese position on the outstanding key elements is as follows:

1. Lebanon remains entirely committed to the full implementation of Security Council resolution 1701 (2006) and abides by its obligations under it. Lebanon looks forward to the achievement of serious progress on the remaining outstanding elements of the resolution and to Israel's full implementation of its articles.

2. The cooperation between the Lebanese armed forces and United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL) remains satisfactory in UNIFIL's area of operation, where the situation is relatively calm. Many bilateral meetings at the operational and strategic levels were held, and many joint activities (manoeuvres, co-located patrols, co-located checkpoints, etc.) were executed to enhance the required procedures and to control the area of operation. Lebanon re-emphasizes the importance of continued international assistance in building up its army's capabilities, which will ensure its readiness to discharge tasks entrusted to it in defending the sovereignty of Lebanon and protecting the safety of its people.

3. Since the last review of the resolution, the Lebanese armed forces recorded that the Israeli forces have persistently committed 633 air, 13 maritime, and 143 land violations (for the list of violations as provided by the Lebanese armed forces covering the period between 11 February and 29 May 2008, see enclosure). Those violations have increased greatly since the last review, notably the overflights, underlining once more Israel's systematic violation of resolution 1701 (2006), and casting a major question mark on the reality of its engagement in measures aimed at respecting the blue line on the ground. Furthermore, the Israeli army has reportedly engaged in provocative incidents against the Lebanese armed forces at the border, which reflect Israel's disrespect of Lebanon's sovereignty and its military institutions.

4. On Ghajar, our position remains clear — Israel should withdraw immediately and unconditionally from the northern part of Ghajar in conformity with resolution 1701 (2006). UNIFIL has suggested an arrangement for the area, which is under study. It is to be noted, however, that by delaying the implementation of its obligation in accordance with the resolution to withdraw from the territories it occupied in violation of the blue line, Israel is not only challenging the international community's calls, but is also deliberately attempting to maintain tension and the possibility for escalation in and around the Ghajar village.

5. While we reaffirm that the internationally recognized borders of Lebanon in the South are as referred to in the 1949 Armistice Agreement, and as reiterated in paragraph 5 of resolution 1701 (2006), we continue to welcome the fact that the Lebanese armed forces and UNIFIL began to implement the agreement to mark the blue line; however, the Israeli army is not being totally cooperative with this marking effort and abides by it in a selective manner.

6. On the environmental front, and to avoid the repetitive actions by Israel to pump the accumulated rainwater into the Lebanese village of Kafarkela, thereby damaging the soil and olive trees, Lebanon welcomed UNIFIL's proposed arrangement to both parties, which will prevent Israel from continuing its pumping activity onto Lebanese soil. Lebanon looks forward to the active implementation of the said arrangement before the winter season.

7. Tripartite meetings, which are held periodically, remain the appropriate venue to address the issue of demarcating the blue line and dealing with tension. The Israeli army should continue to resort to liaison and coordination arrangements between the three parties to solve problems and refrain from acting unilaterally on the ground. Specifically, when the Israeli army intends to execute extraordinary military movements south of the blue line, it should continue to inform UNIFIL of such moves prior to implementing them in order to avoid unnecessary tension.

8. On the question of the Lebanese detainees in Israeli prisons, we continue to insist that these detentions are a breach of the basic rules of international law and that they be released immediately and unconditionally. As for the Israeli soldiers abducted on 12 July 2006, the Lebanese Government reiterates that it has no knowledge of their status or whereabouts and remains ready to cooperate with the Secretary-General, who is handling this issue, whenever he may deem it appropriate to do so. In this context, the Lebanese Government notes that Israel, while continuing its allegations that the Lebanese Government is in breach of resolution 1701 (2006) regarding the release of the two abducted Israeli soldiers, is engaged in indirect negotiations with Hezbollah via a German mediator, which had led to the release so far of some prisoners and the remains of soldiers left inside Lebanon.

9. The Israeli army pounded Lebanon with millions of cluster bombs, contaminating an area estimated at more than 38 million square metres, killing and maiming at least 307 Lebanese civilians. Despite the joint efforts of the Lebanese armed forces, UNIFIL teams, and United Nations contractors, the task ahead to clear and demine remains a real challenge due to the lack of serious data. We request that Israel give to the United Nations, without any further delay, the data strike (coordinates, type of ammunition, number, etc.) of the dropped cluster bombs. This information needs to be specific rather than general, as approximation does not serve the purpose. Cluster bombs remain a continuing threat to the civilian population in the South and represent a humanitarian crime for which Israel will have to bear responsibility and pay compensation to Lebanon. With regard to the maps related to landmines laid in Lebanon prior to Israel's withdrawal in 2000, it remains our position that any further discoveries of landmines will be brought to the attention of tripartite meetings and that the Israeli army will submit pertinent maps if in their possession.

10. The Israeli occupation of the Lebanese Shebaa Farms constitutes a continuing threat to stability and security along the border and a violation of Security Council resolution 425 (1978). While taking note of the provisional geographical definition presented in the fifth interim report on the implementation of resolution 1701 (2006), the Lebanese Government sent a letter to the Secretary-General urging him to start a long-overdue diplomatic process based on the suggestion in the 7-Point Plan that this area as defined by the cartographers be placed under provisional United Nations custodianship after the withdrawal of the Israeli occupying forces, and until the border demarcation between Lebanon and the Syrian Arab Republic is possible, without undermining Lebanon's rights to exploit the water resources of the region, without prejudice to such a delineation between the two countries. In the meantime, access will be ensured to the Lebanese citizens who own property in the region. It is high time to engage all concerned parties under the leadership of the United Nations in this diplomatic process. The credibility of the international community in respecting the extension of the authority of the Lebanese State on the whole of its territories is at stake in this issue.

11. The control of the borders is a national security interest for Lebanon. The Lebanese competent authorities adopted an integrated strategy to enhance their capabilities in controlling the border from the Lebanese side and are maintaining a high level of vigilance against the illegal movements of arms and materiel. Further technical and logistic support is needed to enhance their capabilities in the fulfilment of their tasks. The Lebanese Government continues to implement a pilot project in the northern part of the border in close cooperation with the German authorities, with the aim of expanding it along the eastern border from the Lebanese side. This project is progressing well. In this context, the Lebanese Government reiterates that the control of the northern and eastern borders is a responsibility shared by both the Syrian Arab Republic and Lebanon, in accordance with paragraph 15 of Security Council resolution 1701 (2006). Therefore, it reiterates the need to establish cooperation with Syrian counterparts, in particular at the operational level, in a joint effort to secure the border and prevent illegal cross-border activities. In this context, we again request that any information about the illegal smuggling of arms or persons in the possession of any third country be shared with Lebanon through the United Nations. Unsubstantiated allegations of illicit movements across the border serve no useful purpose.

12. We consider that, based on the important measures taken by the Lebanese Government and the Lebanese armed forces to extend their authority throughout Lebanese territory and to guarantee peace and stability, it is essential to move from the precarious situation of the cessation of hostilities to a permanent ceasefire. We continue to believe that the Armistice Agreement of 1949, amended as appropriate, provides a good framework for a permanent ceasefire.

13. The Lebanese army needs international assistance (logistic and technical, etc.) to enhance its capabilities in order to achieve its mission over all Lebanese territory.

14. On the economic front, we reiterate the call upon the international community in resolution 1701 (2006) to consider further assistance for the reconstruction and development of Lebanon. In that context, we urge all States to fulfil pledges already made to Lebanon.

Sixty-second sessionAgenda item 106*Crime prevention and criminal justice*Letter dated 17 June 2008 from the Permanent Representative of Uzbekistan to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General

I have the honour to convey to you the information about the system functioning in the Republic of Uzbekistan on opposing the legalization of income derived from criminal activity and countering the financing of terrorism (see annex).

I would appreciate if you could circulate the present letter and its annex as a document of the General Assembly under agenda item 106.

Annex to the letter dated 17 June 2008 from the Permanent Representative of Uzbekistan to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General

[Original: Russian]

The system in the Republic of Uzbekistan for combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism

I. Current legislation of the Republic of Uzbekistan on combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism

In accordance with articles 243 and 155 of the Criminal Code of the Republic of Uzbekistan, offences related to the legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism are criminalized as grave and particularly grave offences, and appropriate punitive measures for perpetrating such offences have been established, which is one of the basic recommendations of FATF (Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering).

Combating the financing of terrorism is also based on the Act of the Republic of Uzbekistan on combating terrorism, adopted on 15 December 2000, under which the financing and material or technical support of persons who carry out terrorist acts is qualified as one of the forms of engaging in terrorist activities.

It should be noted that Uzbekistan was one of the first members of the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS) to have established, within the framework of the Act, the responsibility of juridical persons for the financing of terrorism, which is also one of the basic recommendations by FATF. In accordance with the Task Force's requirements, the Republic of Uzbekistan was one of the first States in the Central Asian region to have adopted the Act on combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism (in 2004).

At the same time, the system set up to monitor monetary transactions within the framework of the Act on combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism resulted in the serious danger of the outflow of funds from banks, which could have negative consequences for the banking system and the country's economy as a whole.

Owing to the situation that arose and the need to take urgent measures, a study was undertaken of international experience in that regard, and its results indicated that the countries that have legislation on combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism or that participate in the work of international organizations in this field actively engaged in the practice of providing financial amnesties, without any threat of the imposition of sanctions by international organizations. For example, a similar practice was applied by Italy (the Decree on legalization, 2001), Belgium (the Act on the amnesty for exported capital, 2004), Germany (legislative enactments on tax amnesty in 2005) and others.

In view of international practice and in order to enhance trust on the part of the general public and economic entities in the banking system, the application of certain provisions of the Act on combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism was temporarily suspended in 2007. Furthermore, the Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan on additional measures to liberalize conditions and ensure guarantees for deposits by the public in commercial banks was adopted for these purposes in February 2008. The measures adopted ensure a significant growth in the amount of funds deposited in banks by both natural and juridical persons.

It should be pointed out that the Decree applies only to natural persons who are residents of the Republic of Uzbekistan and to funds deposited in cash or transferred from the personal accounts of residents in foreign banks. In this regard, when natural persons who are residents open deposit accounts, including bearer deposit accounts, the persons in question are identified since they must first of all provide the bank with documents indicating that they are residents of Uzbekistan and that the funds are being transferred from their personal accounts abroad, and not from accounts of unidentified persons or organizations. This provision effectively averts the possible danger of the inflow of the funds of foreign persons or organizations intending to finance terrorist activity within or outside the Republic or to conceal or legalize their criminal proceeds.

Despite the suspension of certain provisions of the Act on combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism, Uzbekistan currently has an adequate normative legal basis ensuring the functioning of an effective system for combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism, including the exchange of information used for detecting and dealing with cases of the legalization of criminal proceeds and the financing of terrorism. This includes the aforementioned Criminal Code of the Republic of Uzbekistan and the Act on combating terrorism.

In addition, a decision by the Government of the Republic of Uzbekistan of 5 August 2002 established the regular exchange of information between agencies of the State Tax Service and commercial banks on particularly large monetary transactions, which is used for detecting cases of tax evasion as well as legalization of illegal or criminal proceeds.

Under the Act on banking secrecy, commercial banks provide information on clients and their banking transactions to the agencies of the Office of the Public Prosecutor and carry out investigations and inquiries when criminal proceedings are instituted against clients, including criminal cases relating to legalization of criminal proceeds and the financing of terrorism.

II. State agencies of the Republic of Uzbekistan participating in combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism

In accordance with the decision by the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan of 21 April 2006 on measures to strengthen the combating of offences in the financial, economic and tax field and legalization of criminal proceeds, a specially authorized State agency was designated for combating the legalization of such proceeds and the financing of terrorism (the Department for Combating Tax and Currency Offences and the Legalization of Criminal Proceeds within the Office of the General Prosecutor of the Republic of Uzbekistan).

Under the Act on combating terrorism, the National Security Service, the Ministry of Internal Affairs, the State Customs Committee, the Ministry of Defence and the Ministry for Emergency Situations are designated as the State bodies engaged in the combating terrorism.

The Republic's law enforcement agencies carry out on an ongoing basis a set of corresponding measures and activities designed to detect, suppress and prevent cases of the legalization of criminal proceeds as well as activities aimed at providing material and technical support and financing to terrorist organizations. For example, in 2007 the Republic's law enforcement agencies uncovered nine offences linked to legalization of the proceeds of crime in respect of which the guilty parties were criminally prosecuted.

In cases involving the criminal prosecution of organizations or persons for terrorist activities, measures are taken under the legislation of the Republic of Uzbekistan to identify and freeze their financial and other property assets.

The Office for Monitoring and Analyzing Monetary Flows was created within the State Tax Committee of the Republic of Uzbekistan. The Office analyses information received on a regular basis from banks on particularly large monetary transactions in order to detect cases of tax evasion and the legalization of illegal or criminal proceeds. The materials concerning cases of the legalization of such proceeds are transmitted to law enforcement agencies, including the Department for Combating Fiscal and Currency Offences and the Legalization of Criminal Proceeds within the Office of the General Prosecutor of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

In order to carry out the FATF recommendations on preventing persons involved in terrorist organizations from holding executive positions within the country's credit institutions, there is a special subdivision of the Central Bank of the Republic of Uzbekistan whose tasks include coordinating the activities of the internal monitoring services in credit institutions as well as checking capital formation sources and identifying the founders and shareholders of banks.

Moreover, in accordance with Security Council resolutions, lists of terrorist organizations and persons participating in terrorist activities are transmitted on an ongoing basis to all commercial banks in the Republic in order to detect and subsequently freeze their assets.

III. International cooperation in combating legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism

The Republic of Uzbekistan acceded to the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, the International Convention for the Suppression of the Financing of Terrorism, and the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime.

Particular attention is given to the Republic of Uzbekistan's implementation of Security Council resolution 1373 (2001), which provides for taking active measures against legalization of the proceeds of crime.

Matter related to creating an effective national system for combating legalization of criminal proceeds and the financing of terrorism are given special consideration in the Republic of Uzbekistan's cooperation with foreign countries, including the European Union countries which are FATF members.

Since 2005, the Republic of Uzbekistan has been a full and active member of the Eurasian Group on Combating Money-Laundering and the Financing of Terrorism (EAG), which is a regional organization working within the structure of FATF. A number of employees of the Ministry of Finances, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Central Bank, the Department for Combating Fiscal and Currency Offences and the Legalization of Criminal Proceeds within the Office of the General Prosecutor are expert appraisers and members of EAG working groups.

Specific cooperation in this field has also been established with regional structures of the World Bank and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Department for Combating Fiscal and Currency Offences and the Legalization of Criminal Proceeds actively participate in this process.

Special attention is accorded to carrying out a set of measures for implementing the Partnership and Cooperation Agreement between the Republic of Uzbekistan and European Communities and their member States, which came into force on 1 July 1999. The Agreement, in addition to other measures, provides for the establishment of active and mutually beneficial cooperation in the field of crime prevention with regard to the economy, illegal trafficking in various types of goods and the use of the financial systems of the countries that are parties to the Agreement in the legalization of the criminal proceeds.

In order to implement the Agreement, proposals are being drawn up concerning Uzbekistan's accession to the European Convention on Laundering, Search, Seizure and Confiscation of the Proceeds from Crime (Strasbourg, 1990). In addition, the Republic's law enforcement agencies are working out measures to develop cooperation through the European Union (Europol and Eurojust) and also on a bilateral basis with EU member countries in combating terrorism, extremism, drug trafficking, money-laundering and the financing of terrorism. Proposals are being prepared for signing bilateral agreements with Belgium, Greece, France, Sweden, the United Kingdom, Slovenia and Estonia on cooperation in the areas referred to.

The Republic's implementation of the 10 EU recommendations on combating corruption are regularly considered within the framework of the Uzbekistan-European Union Cooperation Council.

The Republic also carried out work on adopting and implementing the recommendations of the Interparliamentary Assembly of the Eurasian Economic Community (EURASEC) on combating money-laundering and the financing of terrorism, which were drawn up in 2006.

Cooperation in this field has also been established between the law enforcement agencies of the Republic of Uzbekistan and CIS member States within the framework of the Office for the Coordination of the Fight against Organized Crime and Other Dangerous Types of Crime in the Territory of CIS Member States. The Republic's law enforcement agencies regularly exchange information in this area with other law enforcement agencies of CIS countries and plan and carry out corresponding joint activities.

The rule of law at the national and international levels

Letter dated 13 June 2008 from the Permanent Representatives of Finland, Germany and Jordan to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General

In a joint letter dated 3 December 2007 (A/62/580), issued on 12 December 2007, we informed you of the outcome of the International Conference entitled "Building a Future on Peace and Justice", organized by the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, Finland and the Federal Republic of Germany, in Nuremberg, Germany, from 25 to 27 June 2007. In that letter, we mentioned that the Conference had aimed at producing concrete recommendations on how to deal with possible tensions between peace and justice. We also announced that, to that end, the Conference organizers would draft a political document to be called the Nuremberg Declaration on Peace and Justice.

It gives us great pleasure to transmit herewith the Nuremberg Declaration on Peace and Justice (see annex). It was elaborated by a group of international experts designated by the Conference organizers and working under the auspices of Oscar Arias, President of Costa Rica. We have approved the text upon consultations with interested practitioners and civil society organizations.

The Declaration contains definitions, principles and recommendations on issues of peace, justice and impunity, and making peace and dealing with the past, as well as promoting development. Although it is not a legal document, it aspires to "guide those involved at the local, national and international levels in all phases of conflict transformation, including mediation, post-conflict peacebuilding, development, and the promotion of transitional justice and the rule of law" and thus to influence the future practice of making and building "just and lasting peace". It is therefore our sincerest hope that this document may also be useful to the United Nations and its States Members.

We would therefore be grateful if you could circulate the present letter together with its annex as a document of the General Assembly, under agenda items 34 and 86.

Nuremberg Declaration on Peace and Justice

I. Preamble

We, the Governments of Finland, Germany and the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, acting in our capacity as co-organizers of the International Conference "Building a Future on Peace and Justice", held in Nuremberg, Germany, from 25 to 27 June 2007,^a

Having pledged, with the consent of Conference participants, to translate the essential findings of the Conference into a document to be called the "Nuremberg Declaration on Peace and Justice",

Acknowledging that peace, justice, human rights and development are at the heart of the international community, that they are interlinked and mutually reinforcing and that they need to be addressed in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights^b and other standards of human rights and international humanitarian law, including, where applicable, the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court,^c

Aware of, and encouraged by, the advances of the worldwide movement to fight impunity, and reaffirming in this context that the most serious crimes of concern to the international community as a whole must not go unpunished,

Motivated by the desire to contribute to the prevention and non-recurrence of armed conflict,

Recognizing that peace and stability are more likely to prevail when the root causes of conflict are addressed in a manner that affected societies perceive as legitimate, non-discriminatory and just, and when societies deal constructively with their past,

Stressing that the advancement of peace and justice is a long-term endeavour, requiring a comprehensive and inclusive approach that is sensitive to political, cultural and gender aspects,

^a From 25 to 27 June 2007, more than 300 policymakers and practitioners gathered in Nuremberg, Germany, to attend the International Conference "Building a Future on Peace and Justice", organized by the Governments of Finland, Germany and Jordan in cooperation with the Crisis Management Initiative (CMI), Helsinki; the International Center for Transitional Justice (ICTJ), New York; the Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung (FES), Berlin; the Centre for the Study of Violence and Reconciliation (CSV), Johannesburg, South Africa; the Working Group on Development and Peace (FriEnt), Bonn, Germany; the Centre for Peacebuilding (KOFF) — swisspeace, Bern; and the Georg-August University, Göttingen, Germany. At the conclusion of the Conference, its participants agreed that the Conference organizers would elaborate a declaration. It was drafted, under the auspices of Óscar Arias, President of Costa Rica, by a group of international experts designated by the Conference organizers and was the subject of consultations, before its publication in June 2008, with practitioners and civil society organizations.

^b General Assembly resolution 217 A (III).

^c United Nations, Treaty Series, vol. 2187, No. 38544.

Propose that the present Declaration guide those involved at the local, national and international levels in all phases of conflict transformation, including mediation, post-conflict peacebuilding, development, and the promotion of transitional justice and the rule of law.

II. Definitions

in this Declaration,

1. "Peace" is understood as meaning sustainable peace.

Sustainable peace goes beyond the signing of an agreement. While the cessation of hostilities, restoration of public security and meeting basic needs are urgent and legitimate expectations of people who have been traumatized by armed conflict, sustainable peace requires a long-term approach that addresses the structural causes of conflict, and promotes sustainable development, rule of law and governance, and respect for human rights, making the recurrence of violent conflict less likely.

2. "Justice" is understood as meaning accountability and fairness in the protection and vindication of rights, and the prevention and redress of wrongs.

Justice must be administered by institutions and mechanisms that enjoy legitimacy, comply with the rule of law and are consistent with international human rights standards. Justice combines elements of criminal justice, truth-seeking, reparations and institutional reform as well as the fair distribution of, and access to, public goods, and equity within society at large.

Justice may be delivered by local, national and international actors.

III. Principles

1. Complementarity of peace and justice

Peace and justice, if properly pursued, promote and sustain one another. The question can never be whether to pursue justice, but rather when and how.

Addressing the security and the social and economic needs of affected populations creates a favourable environment for the pursuit of peace and justice and often corresponds to the most urgent expectations of post-conflict societies. But meeting these needs is neither a precondition nor a substitute for the pursuit of justice and other efforts to deal with the past.

2. Ending impunity

The most serious crimes of concern to the international community, notably genocide, war crimes, and crimes against humanity, must not go unpunished and their effective prosecution must be ensured. The emergence of this principle as a norm under international law has changed the parameters for the pursuit of peace.

As a minimal application of this principle, amnesties must not be granted to those bearing the greatest responsibility for genocide, crimes against humanity and serious violations of international humanitarian law.

Each State has the primary responsibility to protect its population from these crimes. This responsibility entails the prevention, investigation and prosecution of such crimes.

3. A victim-centred approach

Victims are central to peacebuilding, justice and reconciliation and should play an active role in such processes. Their concerns should enjoy a high priority.

4. Legitimacy

The legitimacy of strategies for pursuing peace and justice is crucial and closely linked to local ownership and compliance with the international normative framework. These strategies need to be informed by local circumstances and expectations.

5. Reconciliation

Rebuilding relationships between formerly antagonistic groups and strengthening the capacity of societies to transform themselves and their animosities contribute to the search for peace. Reconciliation requires the restoration of trust in equitable public institutions and respect for equal rights. It entails dialogue on conflicting versions of the past and addressing justice, accountability and the interests of victims.

IV. Recommendations

1. Making peace

- 1.1 While recognizing the imperative to stop the fighting and end the suffering, negotiations must build the foundation for both peace and justice.
- 1.2 Mediators bear a responsibility to contribute creatively to the immediate ending of violence and hostilities while promoting sustainable solutions. Their commitment to the core principles of the international legal order has to be beyond doubt. They should promote knowledge among the parties about the normative framework, including international human rights standards and humanitarian law, and available options for its implementation, so that the parties can make informed choices. They should be attentive to developmental needs, so that those needs are addressed from the outset.
- 1.3 Consultations with a broad range of actors, in particular victims, civil society, and women, need to be held as soon as possible.
- 1.4 While public security and governance demands are critical in the immediate post-conflict period, the consolidation and maintenance of peace need to be bolstered by a sense that grievances are being redressed through accountability, the establishment of legitimate State structures, and the elimination of the root causes of conflict.
- 1.5 Parties to a conflict should agree on measures that contribute to dismantling the causes of impunity and violence, such as disbanding non-State armed groups, repealing emergency laws, and vetting officials implicated in human rights abuses, and on modalities for implementing such measures.

2. Dealing with the past

- 2.1 Dealing with the past is essential to a society's present and future. While there is no standard model for dealing with the past, there are a range of proved measures that can assist a society in this endeavour. They should be both comprehensive and inclusive, engaging all relevant actors.
- 2.2 These measures should help a society to transform itself through governance, structural and institutional reforms, particularly in the fields of justice, human rights, education and the security sector, and should promote a culture of peace and non-violence.
- 2.3 Outreach and consultation are crucial elements of legitimacy and ownership of transitional justice measures. All those involved need to understand fully the potential and limitations of available options.
- 2.4 Transitional justice strategies should integrate criminal justice, truth-seeking, reparations and institutional reform. The relationship between these various elements and the socio-economic dimension of justice should be given early consideration. It should take into account the principle of complementarity between national and international mechanisms.
- 2.5 Traditional and community justice measures, when operating within the bounds of international human rights standards, can play an important role.
- 2.6 Amnesties, other than for those bearing the greatest responsibility for genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes, may be permissible in a specific context and may even be required for the release, demobilization and reintegration of conflict-related prisoners and detainees.
- 2.7 Justice and victim-centred approaches should be given the same level of attention and resources as security sector reform, disarmament, demobilization and reintegration, and other stabilization measures.
- 2.8 Particular attention should be given to the increased representation and the full and active involvement of women in transitional justice strategies. Appropriate measures should be taken to protect the dignity and privacy of victims and witnesses, in particular when the crimes involve sexual or gender violence. Post-conflict legal orders should rectify legal and social discrimination based on gender.
- 2.9 Reparations programmes should include restitution, compensation and rehabilitation, and should entail public recognition of victims as citizens, thus contributing to the restoration of trust in civic institutions and to social solidarity.
- 2.10 An effective transitional justice strategy will contribute to reconciliation. Reconciliation may include symbolic measures such as asking for forgiveness, removing compromised symbols, and searching for common identities.

3. Promoting development

- 3.1 Conflict often results from a lack of social justice. Addressing root causes of conflict and supporting access to public goods and services, economic resources and opportunities in a non-discriminatory and equitable manner are a critical part of peacebuilding and development programmes. Special attention should be given to those most affected by the conflict.

- 3.2 Supporting institutional reform processes, which allow for socio-economic development, participation in decision-making, the rule of law and respect for human rights are also important development goals.
 - 3.3 Transitional justice mechanisms and development efforts have specific and distinct roles, which should complement each other and be integrated into comprehensive peacebuilding strategies.
 - 3.4 National and international development actors should be sensitive in dealing with the past when designing post-conflict development strategies and take into account relevant recommendations of accountability mechanisms.

We have the honour to refer to the conclusions and recommendations of the biannual review of the implementation of the Sierra Leone Peacebuilding Cooperation Framework (PBC/2/SLE/8).

On 19 June 2008, the Government of Sierra Leone and the Peacebuilding Commission conducted the first biannual review of the implementation of the Peacebuilding Cooperation Framework adopted on 12 December 2007. The review noted that significant progress has been made in meeting several commitments contained in the Framework. However, additional efforts are needed, particularly in addressing the pressing issues of youth employment and empowerment, national reconciliation and capacity-building.

The biannual review meeting resulted in the adoption of succinct recommendations to the Government of Sierra Leone, the United Nations, the international community and the Peacebuilding Commission. In accordance with paragraph 14 of the Peacebuilding Commission founding resolutions (General Assembly resolution 60/180 and Security Council resolution 1645 (2005)), we would like to draw your attention to the recommendation addressed to the international community for follow-up action. In particular, the attention of the Security Council is drawn to the recommendation contained in paragraph 5 (f) of the conclusions and recommendations pertaining to the future of the United Nations integrated presence in Sierra Leone.

The Peacebuilding Commission reiterates its determination to provide unflagging support to Sierra Leone in the consolidation of peace with a view to securing a future that is free from fear and want.

and the President of the Economic and Social Council

We have the honour to refer to the recommendations of the biannual review of the implementation of the Strategic Framework for Peacebuilding in Burundi (PBC/2/BDI/9).

On 23 June 2008, the Government of Burundi and the Peacebuilding Commission conducted the first biannual review of the implementation of the Strategic Framework and its Monitoring and Tracking Mechanism, which were adopted, respectively, on 20 June and 5 December 2007. The review noted that significant progress has been made in meeting several commitments contained in the Framework. However, additional efforts are needed, particularly in addressing the pressing issues of promotion of good governance; a comprehensive ceasefire agreement between the Government of Burundi and Palipehutu-Forces nationales de libération; security-sector reform; justice, promotion of human rights, and action to combat impunity; and the land issue and socio-economic recovery.

The biannual review meeting resulted in the adoption of succinct recommendations to the Government of Burundi, the United Nations, the international community and the Peacebuilding Commission. In accordance with paragraph 14 of the Peacebuilding Commission founding resolutions (General Assembly resolution 60/180 and Security Council resolution 1645 (2005)), we would like to draw your attention to the recommendations addressed to the international community for follow-up action. In particular, attention is drawn to the recommendation contained in paragraph 28 pertaining to the mobilization and coordination of international assistance to Burundi.

The Peacebuilding Commission reiterates its determination to provide unflagging support to Burundi in the consolidation of peace with a view to securing a future that is free from fear and free from want.

I have the honour to refer to your letter dated 30 May 2008, addressed to me in my capacity as Chairperson of the Peacebuilding Commission, in which you conveyed the invitation of the Security Council to the Commission to provide advice on the situation in the Central African Republic.

I am pleased to inform you that, at a meeting held on 12 June 2008, the Organizational Committee of the Peacebuilding Commission agreed to place the Central African Republic on the Commission agenda. The Commission also agreed to establish a country-specific configuration, to be chaired by Jan Grauls, the Permanent Representative of Belgium to the United Nations, to assist the Central African Republic in its peacebuilding efforts.

The Commission took note of the request of the Security Council and will establish, in close contact with the authorities of the Central African Republic, the priorities and programme of work of the Central African Republic configuration, mindful of the need to develop an integrated strategic approach to meet the challenges of peacebuilding in the country.

The Commission looks forward to informing you of its preliminary findings as soon as possible and to keeping you informed of progress on its consideration of the situation in the Central African Republic, in accordance with the relevant provisions of General Assembly resolution 60/180 and Security Council resolution 1645 (2005).

Special measures for protection from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse

Report of the Secretary-General

Summary

The present report is submitted in compliance with General Assembly resolution 57/306 of 15 April 2003, in which the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to maintain data on investigations into sexual exploitation and related offences. The report presents data on allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse in the United Nations system for the period from January to December 2007. It also describes progress made in the enforcement of United Nations standards of conduct related to sexual exploitation and abuse.

I. Introduction

1. The General Assembly, in its resolution 57/306, requested the Secretary-General, inter alia, to maintain data on investigations into sexual exploitation and related offences by humanitarian and peacekeeping personnel, and all relevant actions taken thereon. Pursuant to that resolution, the Secretary-General, on 9 October 2003, issued a bulletin on special measures for protection from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse (ST/SGB/2003/13), addressed to all staff of the United Nations, including staff of separately administered organs and programmes. As defined in the bulletin, the term "sexual exploitation" means any actual or attempted abuse of a position of vulnerability, differential power, or trust, for sexual purposes, including, but not limited to, profiting monetarily, socially or politically from the sexual exploitation of another. The term "sexual abuse" means actual or threatened physical intrusion of a sexual nature, whether by force or under unequal or coercive conditions.

2. In response to the above-mentioned request, and in accordance with the Secretary-General's bulletin, the present report provides information on the number and type of allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse reported in 2007. It also sets out the status of investigations into those allegations as at 31 December 2007, and describes the progress made in the enforcement of United Nations standards of conduct related to sexual exploitation and abuse.

II. Reports of sexual exploitation and abuse in 2007

3. Information on allegations of sexual exploitation or sexual abuse reported in 2007 was provided by all but 4 of the 43 United Nations entities from which information was sought. Annex I provides a list of the entities requested to submit information, which includes departments and offices of the United Nations Secretariat as well as United Nations agencies, funds and programmes. New allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse in 2007 were reported by 9 entities, whereas 35 reported receiving no allegations. The number of new allegations reported by all entities totalled 159.

4. The nature of the allegations and the outcome of investigations are detailed in the annexes to the present report. The omission of a reference to a particular entity from the annexes means that no allegations were reported in regard to the personnel of that entity. Since allegations relating to the Department of Peacekeeping Operations involve civilian, military, police and corrections personnel and each category requires different procedures for follow-up, they are presented separately in the annexes.

5. There were 32 allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse involving personnel of United Nations entities other than the Department of Peacekeeping Operations. Annex II presents the number of allegations, by nature of allegation and United Nations entity.

6. Pursuant to resolution 59/287, by which the General Assembly mandated the Office of Internal Oversight Services to conduct investigations into allegations of serious misconduct by staff members and other persons engaged in activities under the authority of the Organization, allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse are conveyed to the Office for investigation. Investigations of such allegations in the separately administered funds and programmes of the United Nations are conducted by their respective investigative units. Allegations reported to the Office of Internal Oversight Services are recorded and evaluated, and then either prioritized for investigation or closed, as appropriate. Allegations which are prioritized for investigation then undergo a preliminary investigation to determine whether the evidence available warrants further investigation. If it is determined that the evidence available is sufficient to proceed with the case, the case remains open. During this phase, the assigned investigator verifies and ensures that all relevant information has been obtained from the complainant.

7. Annex III presents the status of investigations into allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse involving personnel of United Nations entities other than the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, as at 31 December 2007. The outcome of the completed investigations can be summarized as follows:

(a) One allegation was reported by the United Nations Mission in Nepal, led by the Department of Political Affairs. The case was referred to the Office of Internal Oversight Services for investigation;

(b) Two allegations were reported by the United Nations Integrated Office in Burundi (BINUB). Both allegations were referred to the Office of Internal Oversight Services for investigation;

(c) At the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC), there was one alleged case which fell under the category of other forms of sexual exploitation and abuse. The case was dealt with at the duty station and the parties were satisfied with the measures taken by the Administration. A report on how the case was handled was sent to the Office of Human Resources Management and the case has been closed;

(d) At the time of preparation of the present report, the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs had received an allegation pertaining to one case of possible sexual exploitation and abuse. An assessment is currently being conducted and the results will be submitted to the head of the Office;

(e) The Office of Internal Oversight Services examined two allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse which involved the same individual. The allegations were raised in 2006 and the investigative reports were finalized by the Office in 2007. The cases were forwarded to the Office of Human Resources Management for disciplinary action following the investigation;

(f) The Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) reported 19 allegations, of which 9 (8 staff members and 1 related personnel) involved the viewing of pornography on office computer systems. Of the 19 cases, 10 have been investigated and forwarded to the Division of Human Resources Management for disciplinary action, and 1 is still under investigation;

(g) The United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) reported five allegations, all of which are currently under investigation in accordance with UNRWA procedures;

(h) The United Nations University (UNU) reported five allegations. One case was determined to be substantiated and the staff member was summarily dismissed. Three cases were determined to be unsubstantiated. One case remained under investigation as at 31 December 2007.

8. A total of 127 allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse involving personnel of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations were reported to the Office of Internal Oversight Services in 2007. This number reflects a substantial decrease from the 357 cases reported in 2006. Annex IV provides the number of allegations, by month and by peacekeeping mission. The highest number of allegations reported originated at the United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUC), where 59 allegations were made. This is down from the 176 cases at MONUC reported to the Office of Internal Oversight Services in 2006.

9. Annex V presents the status of the investigations into allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse involving peacekeeping personnel reported in 2007, as at 31 December 2007. Investigations involving 136 United Nations peacekeeping personnel were completed as at 31 December 2007.¹ The results of the investigations were as follows:

(a) Investigations involving 118 military personnel were conducted. The allegations against 5 personnel were determined to be unsubstantiated, while those against the remaining 113 were determined to be substantiated. The results of those investigations have been communicated to troop-contributing countries by the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support. In 2007, the two Departments received feedback on action taken by Member States in respect of the substantiated allegations communicated to them in 2007 and prior years. One Member State reported that criminal proceedings were ongoing following the repatriation of 111 military personnel. In addition, the two Departments received feedback from three Member States on action taken against 21 military personnel, comprising three dismissals from service, six reprimands, seven imprisonments, one reduction in rank and imprisonment, and four dismissals from service and imprisonment. All of the military personnel have been banned from future United Nations peacekeeping operations;

(b) Investigations were conducted in regard to nine civilian personnel. The allegations against three were determined to be unsubstantiated, while those against the remaining six were determined to be substantiated;

(c) Investigations were conducted for nine police and corrections personnel. The allegations against seven were determined to be unsubstantiated, while those against the remaining two were determined to be substantiated. The respective police contributing country has been informed of the results of those investigations.

10. Annex VI presents the nature and number of investigations into allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse involving personnel of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support, by category of personnel.

¹ For the purpose of the present report, the term "investigations" is used to refer to the number of individuals identified in investigation reports. There is therefore no match between the number of allegations received and the number of individuals for whom an investigation has been completed since one investigation report may cover several individuals.

III. Observations

11. The total number of allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse has substantially declined, with only 159 cases reported in 2007 compared with the 371 reported in 2006.

12. There was an increase in the number of allegations relating to personnel from United Nations entities other than the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, with 14 allegations reported in 2006, as opposed to 31 allegations made against personnel of United Nations entities other than the Department of Peacekeeping Operations in 2007. As indicated in paragraph 7 (e) above, 9 of those allegations related to the viewing of pornography in the office. Allegations relating to the viewing or distribution of pornography which do not involve beneficiaries of assistance have not been included in the present report as the actions were determined not to constitute the type of misconduct targeted by the Secretary-General's bulletin on sexual exploitation and abuse. Such acts, however, continue to be treated as misconduct and are subject to disciplinary proceedings.

13. Most allegations, or 127 of the total 159, involved peacekeeping personnel. This figure represents a 64 per cent decrease from the 357 allegations reported in 2006. The decline in reports of allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse, which began in December 2006 and continued throughout 2007, can be partly attributed to preventative measures, such as increased training and awareness-raising activities, taken by the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support. Troop and police-contributing countries have also stepped up their predeployment training to include more content on the prevention of sexual exploitation and abuse.² It should be noted, however, that reports from other organizations suggest chronic underreporting of allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse, in particular of minors, against United Nations personnel, as well as personnel from the international aid community. In addition, the period during which systematic reporting and specific policies were implemented remains relatively short (from 2005 to 2007) and it is therefore difficult to make a conclusive determination and analysis regarding the decrease in the number of allegations in the reporting period.

14. During the course of 2007, a number of challenges continued to be faced in relation to the recording of allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse by peacekeeping personnel; however, the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support, together with the Office of Internal Oversight Services, continued to work on the harmonization of data and terminology.

IV. Strengthening measures for protection from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse

Continued compliance with the Secretary-General's bulletin

15. All 43 entities providing information for the present report confirmed compliance with the standards set out in the Secretary-General's bulletin.

² For more detailed information on the activities of the Department of Peacekeeping Operations/ Department of Field Support in respect of conduct and discipline and the comprehensive strategy to address sexual exploitation and abuse, see A/62/758.

16. The language which requires consultants and individual contractors to abide by the standards of conduct set out in Secretary-General's bulletin ST/SGB/2003/13 was introduced, effective 1 April 2006, to administrative instruction ST/AI/1999/7 on consultants and individual contractors and the accompanying General Conditions of Contracts for the Services of Consultants or Individual Contractors (see ST/AI/1999/7/Amend.1). Executive officers at all duty stations were also instructed to provide new consultants and individual contractors with a copy of the bulletin.

17. Similarly, the United Nations general conditions of contract, applicable to corporate contractors, were first amended in June 2005 and subsequently revised in February 2006 to include an obligation on the part of the contractor to take all appropriate measures to prevent the sexual exploitation or abuse of anyone by the contractor or by any of its employees or any other persons who might be engaged by the contractor to perform any services under the contract.

Task Force on Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse

18. The Task Force on Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse, established jointly by the Executive Committee on humanitarian affairs and the Executive Committee on Peace and Security in 2005, has produced several significant outputs, including convening of a high-level conference on eliminating sexual exploitation and abuse by United Nations and non-governmental organization personnel, a strategy on assistance to victims and an awareness-raising video. Five working groups were formed in September 2007 to advance the work of the Task Force in the following areas: support to field-based networks; enforcement; managerial compliance; victim assistance; and implementation guidance for Secretary-General's bulletin ST/SGB/2003/13.

19. The first such working group is focusing on developing and strengthening field-based networks on sexual exploitation and abuse, while providing the networks with the necessary guidance and support. This will include ensuring familiarity with United Nations reporting and complaint mechanisms (to be developed in part by the second working group), and adapting policies, structures, tools and mechanisms to needs in the field. The second working group aims to focus on developing or enhancing response mechanisms for the field, such as complaint mechanisms, reporting, record-keeping and investigation procedures. The third working group is concentrating on establishing a compliance mechanism at the country level, with a focus on commitments from senior management to implement measures to prevent sexual exploitation and abuse. The fourth working group plans to develop terms of reference and organize training for victim support facilitators, the key element of the strategy for the provision of assistance. This group will also develop and implement a roll-out plan for the strategy, and produce guidance on implementation, identify potential field-level management and funding mechanisms and undertake monitoring and evaluation of the two-year victim assistance pilot programme established by the General Assembly. The fifth working group will be developing a guidance document on the implementation of Secretary-General's bulletin ST/SGB/2003/13.

Department of Field Support conduct and discipline unit and teams

20. Following the establishment of a conduct and discipline team in the Department of Peacekeeping Operations at United Nations Headquarters in November 2005, dedicated personnel were deployed to the field in 2005, 2006 and 2007. Conduct and discipline teams had been deployed at the following peacekeeping and special political missions as at 31 December 2007: United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan (UNAMA), United Nations Integrated Office in Burundi (BINUB), United Nations Mission in the Central African Republic and Chad (MINURCAT), United Nations Operations in Côte d'Ivoire (UNOCI), United Nations Organization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUC), United Nations Mission in Ethiopia and Eritrea (UNMEE), United Nations Observer Mission in Georgia (UNOMIG), United Nations Mission in Liberia (UNMIL), United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK), United Nations Stabilization Mission in Haiti (MINUSTAH), United Nations Military Observer Group in India and Pakistan (UNMOGIP), United Nations Assistance Mission for Iraq (UNAMI), United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL), United Nations Mission in Nepal (UNMIN), United Nations Mission in the Sudan (UNMIS), United Nations Integrated Office in Sierra Leone (UNIOSIL), African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur (UNAMID), United Nations Office in Timor-Leste (UNMIT) and United Nations Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO).

21. The Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support, through the conduct and discipline teams, continue to develop and implement policies and strategies to prevent sexual exploitation and abuse, including awareness-raising activities. As mentioned above, the two Departments have established a uniform code of conduct on sexual exploitation and abuse which has been written into contracts for experts, volunteers, consultants and contractors. The code of conduct is signed by United Nations personnel, including police and military observers, upon arrival in the mission area. In addition, language on sexual exploitation and abuse has been incorporated into the mandates of 11 peacekeeping missions. Also, 11 missions have identified and prohibited peacekeepers from being in off-limit areas, where sexual transactions are known to take place. The website of the Conduct and Discipline Unit,³ launched in March 2007, contains information on the high-level conference, relevant documents on sexual exploitation and abuse, and space to share best practice and other resources. A film, entitled "To Serve with Pride: Zero Tolerance for Sexual Exploitation and Abuse", was jointly produced by the Department of Field Support and the Department of Peacekeeping Operations, the United Nations Children's Fund, the United Nations Development Programme and the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs and launched in December 2006. The film is now available in English, Spanish and French, and copies have been disseminated and used in training at peacekeeping missions and United Nations duty stations.

22. The activities of the conduct and discipline teams (see A/61/957 and A/62/758) continued in 2007 along the lines of the three-pronged comprehensive strategy to address sexual exploitation and abuse. Three standard training modules for the prevention of sexual exploitation and abuse, designed for all levels and categories of personnel, were piloted in workshops in 2006 and early 2007. Module 2, for mid-level managers and commanders, and module 3, for senior leaders, have been approved by senior management at United Nations Headquarters and will be distributed to missions for use or adaptation. In terms of awareness-raising, mission-focused communications campaigns to combat prostitution and transactional sex are under way. Workshops to develop mission-specific strategies were held at UNMIT, MINUSTAH, MONUC, UNMIL, UNOCI and UNMIS between September and December 2007 and the campaigns were to begin in April 2008. The campaigns are part of a broader prevention effort to align the behaviour of peacekeeping personnel with United Nations standards of integrity and conduct and to eradicate sexual exploitation and abuse. Funding for the campaigns is provided by donor contributions.

Statement of commitment on sexual exploitation and abuse

23. Since the convening of the high-level conference in December 2006, another five non-United Nations entities have endorsed the statement of commitment on sexual exploitation and abuse.

Policies adopted during the sixty-second session of the General Assembly

24. The amendments on sexual exploitation and abuse to the model memorandum of understanding between the United Nations and troop-contributing countries (A/61/19 part III, annex) were endorsed by the General Assembly in resolution 61/267 B of 24 July 2007. The Department of Field Support uses the amended model memorandum of understanding in its negotiations with potential troop-contributing countries for all new military contingents to peace operations. As of June 2008, 7 new memorandums of understanding have been signed and 12 are under discussion. It is envisaged that the revisions to the model memorandum of understanding will be incorporated into the existing memorandums.

25. The General Assembly, by resolution 62/214 of 21 December 2007, adopted the United Nations Comprehensive Strategy on Assistance and Support to Victims of Sexual Exploitation and Abuse by United Nations Staff and Related Personnel, recommended by the Ad Hoc Open-ended Working Group on Assistance and Support to Victims of Sexual Exploitation and Abuse (see A/62/595). Under the strategy, victims would receive assistance to address needs directly arising from the exploitation or abuse suffered. Assistance may include medical treatment, counselling, social support, legal services or material care. In addition, the strategy recommends that the United Nations work with Member States to facilitate, within their competence, the pursuit of claims related to paternity and child support. The working group on victim assistance (part of the Task Force on Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse) has commenced work on an implementation strategy, which will include a guidance note for field missions.

26. Following the consideration by the Special Committee on Peacekeeping in December 2006 and the Sixth Committee in April and October 2007 of the report of the Group of Legal Experts on ensuring the accountability of United Nations staff and experts on mission with respect to criminal acts committed in peacekeeping operations (A/60/980), the General Assembly, in resolution 62/63 of 6 December 2007, urged States to establish jurisdiction over criminal misconduct by their nationals while serving as United Nations officials or experts on mission. By the same resolution, the General Assembly encouraged Member States to cooperate with each other and with the United Nations in the exchange of information and facilitation of investigations and, as appropriate, the prosecution of the relevant persons. The Sixth Committee gave further consideration to the provisions of the resolution in April 2008.

Other draft policies currently under consideration

27. The report of the Secretary-General on the comprehensive review of the welfare and recreation needs of all categories of peacekeeping personnel (A/62/663), undertaken at the request of the General Assembly, was considered by the Special Committee on Peacekeeping in March and April 2008. The review identifies both welfare and recreation needs and the measures that the Secretariat proposed to take to address those needs. The Special Committee took note of the report and recognized the importance of welfare and recreation for all categories of peacekeeping personnel, including non-contingent personnel. The Special Committee on Peacekeeping has requested that a further comprehensive report, on welfare and recreation issues in all their aspects, be prepared for consideration by the appropriate committees during the sixty-third session of the General Assembly.

V. Conclusions

28. During the period under review, the United Nations has continued to make crucial progress in establishing a sustainable framework within which to address sexual exploitation and abuse. The creation of conduct and discipline teams within the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support has led to focused and coordinated responses to prevention of sexual exploitation and abuse and enforcement of the related standards of conduct. The high-level conference on sexual exploitation and abuse and the work of the Task Force on Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse are important steps towards institutionalizing comprehensive, Organization-wide implementation of measures to prevent abuse, the enforcement of standards of conduct and strategic collaboration with non-governmental partners. Recently approved policies, such as the revised memorandum of understanding, the strategy on assistance to victims, and the General Assembly resolution on criminal accountability, are significant milestones in the advancement of the three-pronged comprehensive strategy to address sexual exploitation and abuse, in conjunction with the United Nations policy of zero tolerance.

29. The number of allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse reported in 2007 shows an overall decline with significant reductions being reported particularly by the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support. The increase in the number of cases arising in entities other than peacekeeping is of concern and will be monitored closely. However, at the same time, the increase in reporting of allegations may also be attributed to the increased awareness of the issue by staff and management, as well as within the communities in which the United Nations operates. The Organization recognizes that it will be necessary to continue to improve its reporting mechanisms, improve investigative procedures and strengthen community outreach.

30. The Secretary-General remains committed to changing the organizational culture to deter acts of sexual exploitation and abuse and urges Member States to continue to provide their full support to both assisting the Organization in its efforts and adopting the necessary policies to ensure that the zero-tolerance policy is applied equally to all troop contingents.

31. The General Assembly is requested to take note of the present report.
